THE DEFEATED CANDIDATE.

You take the way this country's run.
A good man doesn't stand no show.
They allus pick the meanest one
An' plank him in the foremost row;
It don't seem hardly right, I know.
I've give the thing a heap o' thought,
But dern me if it isn't so!
There's nothin' goes the way it ought.
The men as ought to have the luck
Is them as gets it in the neck.
At every corner they get stuck
The same as I've been stuck, by heck!
We get the two-spots in the deck.
In any game our share's a naught;
Their barks is allus brought to wreck.
Things never goes the way they ought.
You needn't think that I am sore;
I didn't know but what you might.
The neighbors didn't set no store
By what was fair an' square an' white.
I stood for what I knowed was right.
My nomination came unsought.
An' yet they snowed me out o' sight!
There's nothin' goes the way it ought.

Mr. Walter Worthington, brakeman on the C. and O., is sick at his boarding-house in Covington.

Mrs. Ada L. Quarterman of Nashville, Tenn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ben Poyntz of Market street.

The Cincinnati Fall Festival is being liberally patronized by the citizens of Maysville and Mason county, which proves that it pays to advertise.

One of the most modest grandpaps in the city is Colonel George Schwartz. He's so happy that he just can't get a word in edgewise for the smiles.

At the session of the Kentucky Conference, M. E. Church, South, which met yesterday at Winchester, the Rev. Felix K. Struve of this city was elected Conference Reporter.

William J. Bryan received a most hearty welcome to Louisville and the South on his arrival there from St. Louis yesterday. He spoke at the Armory last night, and the crowd reached the maximum capacity of 15,000.

P. J. MURPHY, the Jeweler.

If Chief Ort should arraign in the Police Court today the large crowd of young boys who behaved in such a boisterous and rowdy manner in front of the Opera-house last evening, and their parents had to pass over to the school fund $6.50 apiece for their fun, they would no doubt think it was an assumption on the Chief's part that did not belong to him. But it does. The conduct on the part of the boys was scandalous in the extreme and should not be tolerated.

An audience of good proportions witnessed the "Punkin Husker" at the Washington last night by the Murray Comedy Company. The play was a rural comedy and a good one. Tonight "A Convict Wife," a story of the Franco-Prussian War, will be presented. This is one of the best plays in the company's repertoire and one that each member is seen at his or her best. The Management has introduced an innovation in the way of giving the patrons ice water between the acts.

CLEARED THE GALLERY

Chief Ort Takes Drastic Measures at Opera-House Last Night

Fair warning!
The Management of the Opera-house is determined to suppress hoodlumism in the Gallery—or elsewhere in the house for that matter. Persuasion and appeals to common decency having failed, drastic measures will henceforth be the order.

Last night the conduct in the Gallery was intolerable—whistling, cat-calls and general disorder disturbing the entire audience—excepting the hoodlums who indulged in the noise.

Chief Ort appeared upon the scene, accompanied by two of his officers, and after questioning every one in the Gallery as to who created the disorder, no one knew, of course.

Thereupon the Chief "cleared the Gallery," marching his two hundred occupants to the street below, where they made more noise and many threats, all of which accomplished nothing. These "toughs" may just as well understand right now as at any time that their disgraceful acts will no longer be tolerated; and if last night's lesson be not sufficient, the next offense will be rewarded with a term on the rockpile.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Mrs. Lewis M. McCarthy will entertain at Beechwood Park this afternoon at 1:30 with a euchre.

Mrs. Isaac Woodward has issued cards for a Garden Party at Beechwood Park Saturday afternoon from 1 till 5 o'clock.

The opening social of the season was given Tuesday evening by the Epworth League of the Third Street M. E. Church. It was a very pleasant occasion and its success reflects much credit on the social department of the young people's society.

The regular September issue of the League's Loquacious Literary Ledger was read to the delight of all. This sprightly young candidate for journalistic honors is destined to reach an exalted position in popular favor if its steady improvement continues. The selections by what St. Skaggs calls the in-famous Male Quartette were well received and contributed no little bit to the evening's enjoyment.

After the social part of the program was finished, all were invited to refresh themselves with some delicious watermelons which the Pastor, Rev. G. W. Bunton, had bargained for on a recent trip to the rural precincts of Lewis county.

This social is just a starter, as many more will follow at regular intervals with programs appropriate to the season.

Mrs. Isaac Woodward will entertain at Beechwood Park Saturday.

Mrs. John W. Watson will remove from West Second street and occupy a flat in the Hill House.

Mr. Gordon Triplett, one of the polite clerks at Ray's Drugstore, will leave Sunday for Bellevue to make that place his permanent home.

When Circuit Court reconvenes October 1st for the trial of Jury cases, it will commence on the case of Jefferson Watson's Administrators v. N. and D. Watson, which has been tried three times, the Jury failing to agree at each trial. The suit is based upon a promissory note, and the defense is payment of the original debt.

That we want to call your attention to from time to time we enumerate in this issue the following lines—Boys' All-Wool School Suits $3.50 to $5. AND still "Judge" CANTRILL continues to draw the salary which he doesn't earn. While Mr. HAYS and Governor BECKHAM are exposing "graft," they might take a whack at this old snoozer, who has drawn nearly $10,000 from the State Treasury without having done a single day's work.

THE London General Postoffice recently successfully delivered a letter addressed "Corner House, Two Stone Dogs in Front." What a lucky thing that letter escaped some of the Civil Service mail handlers in the Maysville Postoffice; it would have been dumped in the wrong hopper for sure.

"No session of Congress has, in my judgment, for thirty years accomplished so much that is valuable in legislation for the best interests of all the people as has been enacted during the present session. I believe that this will be the verdict of history," said Speaker CANNON in a speech of thanks at close of session June 30th, 1906.

With work on the brick streets "progressing annually a little every day some," with new construction on the telephone lines, gas and water supplies; with a $60,000 addition to the already big plant of the American Tobacco Company, and with many lesser betterments in many parts of the city, who will say that the old town isn't moving right up to the head of the procession?

THE "filler" is here; its purpose is supposed to be to "fill" the joints between the bricks; but, from a layman's standpoint, only a "half-filler" is being used.

A DISPATCH from Washington says a decided sensation has been caused by the action of the sub-committee of the National Democratic Committee discharging its clerks and stopping the sending out of literature and other work in the interest of Democratic Congressional candidates.

The advocacy by BRYAN of Government ownership of railroads has set the plans of Democrats all awry. They have thrown up their hands and quit. They will have none of the Nebraskanian.

For some time seven members of the National Committee, acting as a sub-committee, have maintained offices in Washington adjoining the headquarters of the Democratic Congressional Committee. Ten clerks have been busy sending what was deemed sound Democratic literature throughout the country. Now BRYAN has come forward with his new theories and the Committee is disgusted and has quit work.

ROBERT MILLER, representing the National Committee, has dismissed all of the ten clerks, only keeping a Private Secretary. Members of the Democratic National Committee openly state their disgust at the trend of events and contributions have fallen off greatly.

And then came one of the Democratic leaders with the statement that it isn't so, although he admits the discharge of the ten clerks.

Our Washington Letter

A Highly "Col- ored" Disser- tation

Special Correspondence Public Ledger.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sep. 5th, 1906.

But the speeches! they quite took the cake. We mean that these speeches surpassed anything of the kind we ever heard for intelligence and eloquence. Think of a coal black African, a fine looking fellow in swallow tail coat and white tie, holding an audience spellbound for two hours! This man was formerly located in Liberia, Africa, but now he is Rev. M. C. B. Mason, D.D., Corresponding Secretary Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational Society, M. E. Church, Cincinnati, O. His subject was "Africa in America and Africa Beyond the Seas." Besides, there were nearly a score of other speakers nearly as good, but his was the master piece of the meeting.

The burden of all their talk was how to arouse the ambition of the Negro, educate him and fit him to deal and cope with the white man. Work and worth they declared was the only ways and means to the end. Many of the speakers told jokes on themselves and the other darkies.

Rev. Mason said he had traced his family history back to his grandfather in America and his great-great-grandfather in Africa; but with a laugh, he declared he was afraid to trace his ancestors back any farther. He was referring to the long tailed denizens of the African jungles.

The other speakers plainly informed their hearers that they were too fond of coon hunting, watermelons and circuses. One speaker declared that the Negroes seemed to study and think more about dying and how to raise five or ten cents every week to pay into the coffers of the graveyard hat-passing insurance companies, than they do about getting an education and bettering their social condition. He said "don't think about dying and getting $75 insurance; but think about living and how to be real men and women." Many white people should also put on their thinking cap.

And the audiences—they were all colors of the rainbow, and then some. From the sable-hued African to the almost lily white and delicate looking females that would pass anywhere for the real goods. But the taint was in the blood and the blacks, yellows, reds, whites and forty-seven other colors in between, mixed and mingled in free and jolly intercourse and enjoyed themselves as only the colored people do. The big gun of the colored race, Booker T. Washington, was scheduled to appear before the convention and deliver an address, but he wired an excuse, a la Grover Cleveland, and failed to show up. Booker is getting above mixing with the common herd of darkies. He now sends his son to Harvard and his daughter to Vassar College. That's going some, ain't it? Sunday night the great meeting wound up with a grand rally and a general love feast. Every seat in Convention Hall, 6,000, were occupied, and everybody had to pay 10 cents to get in. They called it a "silver offering."

But there was one Negro that we sometimes think was the only real self-made man. That Negro was

FREDERICK DOUGLASS, that wonderful darkey and copper-colored genius who was repeatedly declared to be "The noblest slave that ever God set free!"

The writer only saw Fred Douglass once and that was in this city in January, 1895, only a month before he died. He dropped dead at his home on Anacostia Heights, called Cedar Hill, a suburb of Washington, on February 20th of that year. He was six feet tall with bronzed face and bushy and venerable looking white hair and beard. He was a handsome and dignified looking man, in truth the most distinguished appearing colored man we ever saw.

Fred Douglass along with Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," were the two leading elements and agencies that freed the Negro.

Fred Douglass was half white and his father was said to have been a distinguished Marylander, and as some say, he was a one time Governor of the state.

His mother was a black Negro slave woman, tall, erect and well proportioned, with regular features and manners of natural dignity and sedateness. Though she worked in the field and toiled from morning till night, she learned to read in some mysterious way, and among a thousand slaves on the Lloyd plantation she was the only one who possessed that accomplishment. Her son, Fred, was born on the plantation in 1817, at a place called Tuckahoe, near Easton, Talbot county, Maryland, on the Eastern shore. Major Edward Lloyd, owner of the plantation, also owned over a thousand slaves, had a splendid old-time mansion and was a regular old-time aristocrat. Fred Douglass hardly remembered his mother's name and he was allowed to be with her but once after he left her breast as an infant until he was seven years old. He was raised by his grandmother, Betty Bailey, colored, and until he ran off, aged 20, he called himself Frederick Augustus Washington Bailey.

Ledger's Washington Letter.

and afterward, at the suggestion of a white friend of his in Massachusetts, he called himself 'Fred Douglass.' He was sent to Baltimore when 8 years old as the slave of a kind mistress, Mrs. Lucretia Auld, who taught him how to read. After that he was self-taught and never attended school a day in his life. Where, then, did his learning and genius come from if it wasn't inspired? As a youth he was sent back to the Lloyd place, where he was brutally beaten with whips, clubs and fencibles every week for a year or two by a typical Legree-like overseer. Douglass's life story written by himself is a very thrilling narrative and is no doubt familiar to your readers. In a word he rose from an ignorant little slave boy sleeping in a tater closet or kiln to keep from freezing to death in the winter to the highest post of honor and esteem ever attained by a member of his race. In England he was honored by the titled aristocracy, by John Bright, Lord Brougham, and Douglas Gerrold. At home he was the associate and intimate friend of Presidents Lincoln, Hayes and Garfield, Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and hundreds of others.

His first wife was a colored woman, a slave too, who escaped and married him in the East.

In 1884 he married Miss Helen Pitts, a white woman of culture and refinement. He was condemned for marrying a white woman by his own race, who never forgave him for it. The woman is still living here and two of his sons by his first marriage are well known business men of Washington.

Douglass was a remarkably clean man morally, never smoked, drank or swore and endeavored to be honorable in all his dealings. He admitted that when a slave he stole because he was hungry.

He also possessed remarkable powers of oratory, and it is related of him that while in London delivering an address to a tremendous crowd, an Irishman, unable to gain admittance to the hall, inquired who the speaker was.

He was told that the man speaking was Fred Douglass, a half Negro from America.

"Faith," said Pat, "if a half Nagur kin talk that way, what would a whole Nagur do?"

SENATOR TOM CARTER'S STORY.

Last June just before Congress adjourned a group of Senators were discussing the aftermath of criticism that had befallen several of them over the rate bill.

"I'm afraid some of us," said Tom Carter, "are going to get a reward for our work for eighteen hours a day the last three months about like Judge Smith's nigger Sam's breakfast."

"How's that?" asked two or three together. "Why the Judge had one old darkey. When the Judge got up in the morning about 9 o'clock he would go out and hunt up Sam. When he found him a colloquy about like this would ensue:

"Sam, you good-for-nothing nigger, you did not milk the cows?"

"Yes, Massa, I done milked de cows."

"You haven't chopped the Missus' wood."

"Yes, Massa."

"Have you weeded the onion patch?"

"Massa, I wurked free hours on dat injun patch, and I done got dat done, too."

"Well, I'll bet you were too lazy to lay up that fence on the back lot."

"Over in de yuther fiel!" Yes, boss, I done did dat fore sun-up."

"Did you make my julep?"

"Sure, Massa."

"Then, you lazy nigger, you have got everything all done up, have you?"

"Yes, Massa."

"Well, then, Sam, you can go over to the persimmon tree in the pasture and get your breakfast. Be off with you, now!"

THINK OF THIS!

Pope's Blessing on Animals "Given To Us By God."

Commercial Tribune.

The blessing recently given by Pius X. is one which none will reject, nor even criticize, for it is based on the truest humanity. It will be welcomed and accepted no less by Jew than by Protestant, by Catholic and by men outside the pale of any faith. Giving his cordial approval to the work of the Italian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and applauding the work it had done and was planning to do, Pius X., invoking the divine blessing, imparts his own "upon all who protect from cruelty and abuse the dumb servants given unto us by God."

Unquestionably it is a blessing from one of broad humanity and a gentle heart, limited not to the people of his Church, but addressed to the whole world in the interest of "the dumb servants given unto us by God." Not only servants are they, but, with the instinct of dumb intelligence, our faithful friends, as well as the bearers of heavy burdens for man. Says the rhyme of Humanity:

He prayeth best who loveth best,
All things, both great and small,
For the good Lord who loveth us,
He made and loveth all.

It was a gentle and a kindly blessing of the venerable Pontiff, and an impetus to a great and a humane work in the prevention of cruelty to animals. There can be none to look upon it otherwise.

STRANGE SIGHT

Many Queer Looking Birds in Flight South of Oklahoma

Tuesday afternoon between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock quite a number of residents in Forest avenue witnessed a novel and interesting sight.

From a wooded and high peak on the hill that skirts Oklahoma, at regular intervals of about one minute, there arose in the air and sailed down in a straight line to a clump of trees in the valley below fowls of the air, the size of an American eagle.

From one point of view fifty of the strange birds were counted in less than an hour.

They were of various colors, light and dark shades, but the distance was too far off to distinguish their species.

Their precision in starting on their flight and their rapid and bee-line descent, together with their large size, was mystifying and perplexing to the many who witnessed the phenomenon.

The gage marks 7.1 and falling.

The Greenland is tonight's up-river packet.

The Tacoma passed up last night with a good trip.

The total cost of the new S. S. Brown will be $120,000.

The new towboat, William Edenborn, just completed at Cincinnati, passed up for Pittsburgh.

There is every prospect that the fall season will be one of the best in years. All the larger packet companies expect to handle large consignments of freight daily for the next few months.

Captain Lampfer Cramer, one of the most widely known Pilots on the Ohio river, is dead. The end came while he was aboard his boat, the Avalon, near Ambridge, Pa. Captain Cramer was sixty years of age, and for many years was Commander of the packet Ben Hur.

The beauty bee is a money maker. It "honzys" up one's thoughts; it sweetens one's life; it's nectar on one's words, and drops, sip by sip, into one's heart when Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is used. Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. J. Jas. Wood & Son.

STOPS ANY ITCHING.

Doan's Ointment Cures Eczema and Itching Piles. Maysville People Recommend It.

One application of Doan's Ointment stops any itching. Short treatment cures eczema, itching piles, salt rheum—any skin eruption or skin itching. It is the cheapest remedy to use, because so little of it is required to bring relief and a cure. Here is Maysville testimony to prove it:

Mrs. Kate Poth, living at the corner of Clark street and Forest avenue, Maysville, Ky., says: "I gave a statement about Doan's Ointment which was published in our Maysville papers. I said that I had received most decided benefit from the use of this remedy, procured at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore. For a long time I had an itching or eczema of the scalp. It broke out in spots, and sometimes the spots would appear on my forehead and temples. The itching was particularly troublesome just before a rain, and was then so intense that I could not sleep at night. It required only a short use of Doan's Ointment to cure the trouble, and the cure has been lasting for the past five years. There has never been even an indication of a recurrence. A friend of mine also had eczema and tried everything for it but never found anything to remove the annoyance. On my recommendation she used Doan's Ointment, and was absolutely cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.
